

A man with a beard and mustache, wearing a dark green lab coat over a light-colored shirt, is shown from the side and back. He is working at a laboratory bench, focused on a task involving a piece of equipment with a wooden handle and a metal frame. His hands are visible; one holds a small white card or piece of paper, and the other is near a stack of white containers. In the background, there's a shelf with books and glassware, and a large, textured wall panel on the right.
